KNIGHTS TEMPLAR HERE WELCOME STATE LEADER

Glendale Commandery Given Compliments on Showing Made Last Night

Glendale Commandery Knights Templar was highly complimented for its esprit de corps last night by William Harrison Waste of San Francisco, grand commander for the State of California, who was the guest of honor at a formal reception.

Knights Templar of Glendale answered the roll call in full force last night in order to receive Grand Commander Waste and his staff with complete dignity. A banquet in their honor was served at 7 o'clock in the dining room of the Masonic Temple. This was attended by both knights and ladies.

A short program, which followed the supper, seemed to be much appreciated. Several violin selections were played by W. T. Kehler of Pasadena, who was accompanied by Miss Marjorie Metcalf of Redlands. Two recitations were given by Harold L. Brewster, instructor in dramatics at Glendale Union High school.

Varied Program

Solo dances were given by Eleanor and Genevieve Marek, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. George Marek of 207 West Garfield avenue, and Blossom Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Moore of 360 West California avenue, all three pupils of the Pearl Kellar School of Dancing. Two whistling solos were given by Mrs. Jack Jenkins of 1743 Tenth street. She was accompanied by Mrs. H. R. Boyer of 232 North Orange street. Two solos were sung by Miss Elizabeth R. Mottern of 211 North Adams street who was accompanied by Miss Gertrude Champlain of 441 Hawthorne street.

Knights remained in the temple for lodge work while other members of the party expressed their delight over the perfection of "The Prisoner of Zenda" at the Glendale theater.

SCOUT WORKERS IN BIG MEETING

Judge Owen Emery Speaker at Tujunga Gathering of Leaders Last Night

"The best men in the community are none too good for the Boy Scout organization," declared Judge Owen C. Emery at a meeting of the scout leaders' roundtable at Tujunga last night. The meeting, which was attended by troop leaders of the Verdugo Hills District council, was held at the American Legion hall.

Last night's meeting was the first held since last July, and was arranged through the efforts of M. E. Hill, scoutmaster and chief counciler of the roundtable.

A good time and excellent eats is reported by those who attend.

Assistant Scoutmaster H. B. Robison told of the methods used in giving the tests to scouts and urged every leader to select special examiners for such subjects as first aid, signaling, etc.

Following a thorough discussion and which resulted in many helpful suggestions, the proposed troop achievement contest was approved unanimously by the leaders, and Scout Executive H. F. Benner was asked to present the plan to the executive board of the council which meets tonight, for their final endorsement.

The leaders were urged to properly observe Roosevelt's birthday in their troop meetings which comes on October 27, and to be prepared to turn out 100 per cent strong for Armistice Day. In this connection the Scout leaders are going to wage a campaign to have every boy in the troop procure one of the new uniforms.

Following the business session the leaders held an oratory contest in which two teams of three men each got up and addressed the audience at the same time, each man choosing his own topic to speak upon. The result was wonderful and caused considerable laughter. Scoutmaster C. W. Angier, it was decided, made the most impressive speech of all. He was silent throughout the whole ordeal.

After this brief outburst of playfulness the lights were turned off and everybody gathered around the big open fireplace and roasted hot dogs, ate buns and drank hot coffee. They were served by several of the scouts of the Tujunga troop who made excellent hosts.

The next meeting of the troop leaders is scheduled to be held in Eagle Rock November 13, at which Earl W. Rumsey, assistant probation officer of Los Angeles county, will speak, as also will Rex C. Kelley, secretary of the Glendale district Y. M. C. A.

Large Industrial Section Is Plan of Roy L. Kent

The establishment of an extensive industrial section of the city of Glendale is predicted in the announcement of the purchase by Roy L. Kent of fifty acres fronting 1000 feet on San Fernando road and the Southern Pacific railroad, north of Goodwin avenue, and leasing by Mr. Kent for ninety-nine years of eighteen acres lying directly to the north of the property he purchased. The deal was negotiated by W. R. Davis of 333 Garfield avenue, and the price of the land Mr. Kent purchased is given as $90,000.

Mr. Kent has made the purchase and taken the lease with a view to establishing an industrial section of the city and plans to start improvements at once that will attract industries to locate in Glendale. In making plans he has secured the support of the Southern Pacific railroad, which has consented to build side tracks to all parts of the property.

NEW CHURCH WILL BE OCCUPIED BY HOLIDAY TIME

Congregational Building to Be Ready on Christmas; Dedication Later

Work on the new Congregational church being erected at the corner of Wilson and Central avenues is progressing rapidly and it is anticipated that the building will be complete about Christmas time, according to Rev. C. M. Calderwood, pastor. The skeleton framework of the building is in place and a large crew of carpenters is busy on rough carpentry on the interior. A red tile roof is being put in place and also the tile walls which are to surround the sunken garden.

At either side of the main entrance on Central avenue are stairways leading to the balcony and basement. The church auditorium and balcony will seat about 750. Both the large and small windows in the church are set into the walls so as to give a sense of great depth. Rev. Calderwood states that in the arrangement of all of the details of the church architecture, which is to be of a modified Spanish type, careful thought was given to emphasizing dignity and reverence.

Many Conveniences

A choir room, pastor's study, church office, women's parlor and kitchenette and young people's department rooms are also located on the first floor, while upstairs are bright, sunny rooms for the primary department, beginner's classrooms and nursery. In the basement is the junior department headquarters, with nine smaller rooms opening off from the main classrooms. There is also a large kitchen, banquet hall and stage equipped for all kinds of entertainments.

The exterior of the church will be of cement applied by the gunite system. C. M. Winslow is the architect and the building is being erected by the Nance Construction Company. Although the construction work on the building will be completed about Christmas time the church dedication will not take place until after the pipe organ arrives in February.

Preparing Now for Holiday Mail Rush

The Glendale postoffice is preparing for the rush of holiday mail, according to Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson. Meetings of the heads of the various departments at the local postoffice are being held every Monday, at which time a number of suggestions have been made.

Next Monday the men will visit the Union High School gymnasium, which is to be turned over to the use of the local department from December 18 to 31. Plans are being made to have all of the parcel post matter handled at that place during the rush. The use of the gymnasium will greatly assist in the prompt delivery of holiday mail in Glendale, according to Postmaster Jackson.

Local Elks Elect Eight Candidates

By DAVID M. CHURCH
For International News Service.

LONDON, Oct. 24.—Premier Andrew Bonar Law was busily engaged today in completing his new cabinet preparatory to the greatest political campaign England has known in modern times. It is anticipated that the new premier will turn in his list of appointments to King George late today or tomorrow and that the king would immediately issue a proclamation dissolving parliament.

According to the Daily Express, the official mouthpiece of Premier Law, the following were cabinet certainties:

A. Bonar Law—premier.
Lord Cave—lord chancellor.
Lord Curzon—foreign secretary.
Lord Derby—first lord of the admiralty.
Lieutenant-Colonel Leopold Amery—colonial secretary.
Stanley Baldwin—chancellor of the exchequer.
Sir Philip Lloyd-Graeme—president of the board of trade.
Lord Peel—secretary for India.
Lord Novar—secretary for Scotland.
Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen—minister of agriculture.

It was understood that Earl Balfour and other unionists who supported Lloyd George's coalition government were not invited to take portfolios.

November 15 has been set as the date of the general election with the new parliament assembling for organization five days later.

Approximately 1300 persons have announced their candidacy for the 615 seats in commons. The approximate number of candidates by parties follow:

Conservatives (Tories) 500.
Lloyd George Liberals, 175.
Asquith Liberals, 300.
Laborites, 400.

Premier Law must control 350 members in commons to have a working majority.

Reginald McKenna, former chancellor of the exchequer, in a political address today urged the public to support the new government in order to establish financial reforms. It is now probable that Mr. McKenna will head the British debt funding mission to the the United States.

DOUBLE SHOOTING DONE BY MAN, SAYS WITNESS

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 24.—A woman who is said to have witnessed the killing of Rev. EXPLAINS PURPOSE OF CALLING 'PEACE MEETING'

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—The purpose of the American government in calling a "peace conference" of five Central American countries to meet in Washington next December was to extend the campaign for reduction of armaments whenever possible, it was stated at the White House this afternoon. The administration considers that the maintenance of large standing armies by the smaller republics of Central America is not only economically injurious, but frequently productive of internal warfare in the "Balkans of America," and has initiated the December conference in the hope of materially reducing these military establishments by common agreement.

JUSTICE W. R. DAY RESIGNS FROM SUPREME COURT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—Justice William R. Day of the United States supreme court has resigned from the nation's highest legal tribunal, it was announced officially at the White House this afternoon. The resignation was accepted by President Harding and will take effect November 14. The resignation of Justice Day was expected in administration quarters ever since President Harding appointed him as umpire on the German-American mixed claims commission. It occasioned no surprise here as the judge's work on the commission, which will adjudicate $400,000,000 in claims against Germany and as much in German claims, is of so wide a field as to necessitate his full time. It is believed here that the vacancy on the high court will be filled by the appointment of a democrat. The court at present has seven Republican and only two Democratic members, due to the appointment of Chief Justice Taft and Justice Sutherland to places formerly held by Democrats. It was officially announced at the White House that no successor as yet has been chosen but it is reported that Senator John K. Shields, a Democrat, of Tennessee, is beng favorably considered. Shields is a close personal friend of the president and has won an enviable reputation as a finished lawyer. Justice Day, who is 73 years of age, was a member of the supreme court since 1903, being appointed from Ohio by former President Roosevelt. He previously had served in the cabinet of former President McKinley as secretary of state.

Get Line of Credit at Very Early Age

The use of credit has been greatly enlarged during the past few years, until today there are but few things that cannot be bought in that manner. But a new use of the system has been found in Glendale.

Leonard and Jack were hungry last Sunday night, but also broke. They were attracted to 103 West Broadway by a sign which calls attention to the fact that among other things chili beans may be obtained.

L. W. Marston of Ranson & Marston was presented wth a hastily written note by the younger of the pair, aged about 5, which read as follows:

"Can we charge two dishes of chili beans—and we will be in and pay it Friday or Saturday. Answer yes or no at bottom."

With the answer of "yes" at the bottom of the note the youngster joined his older pal, about 6 years, who waited outside. Soon they were both on a stool enjoying their "feed."

While eating the chili one of them was heard to remark:

"We want to be sure and pay you as we want to keep our credit good. We'll be in and pay Friday or Saturday, sure."

"They will be here, too, for they seemed to be manly little fellows," says Mr. Marston. "I'm sure we have looked ahead and made live prospects for future business."

From New York I plan to go south to visit my parents in Louisville and return to California the first week in December.

"I am going to keep in close touch with the progress of the campaign and will anxiously await the election results."

The combination of these two sets of boosters means—Greater Glendale.

WORK PROCEEDING ON BUILDING FOR TUESDAY CLUB

Structure at Lexington and Central Will Be Ready by First of Year

With the aim of the Tuesday Afternoon club—that of a new club home—soon to be realized, the progress being made on the construction of the magnificent structure at Lexington drive and Central avenue is of paramount importance to the more than 700 members of this organization. Large crews of men are working on the rough carpentry, completing the brick work of the auditorium and beginning to plaster.

A portion of the interior of the building has been lathed and plastering will begin in these rooms today. The exterior will be ready for plaster in about a week. The walls of the building are of hollow tile, with the exception of the large auditorium, where, on account of the heavy load to be carried, brick is used. The auditorium has a sloping floor and will be large enough to accommodate about 1,000 when equipped with seats. The exterior of the building will be finished with cream-colored stucco and tile roof.

Ready First of Year

Suggestive of the Spanish and mission types of architecture are the picturesque arches connecting the various rooms and also the arched windows. In addition to the auditorium the building includes a large banquet hall, tea room, palm room, keeper's apartment and kitchen. The building is to be completed about the first of January, 1923. Alfred F. Priest is the architect and Elmer Elliott the contractor.

The members of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. Daniel Campbell is president, are busily engaged perfecting and completing plans for the big society circus and bazaar to be given under the supervision of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, first vice-president and chairman of ways and means, on November 18, at the Elks' clubhouse for the benefit of the club building fund.

LARGE CLUBHOUSE WILL BE BUILT FOR K. OF C.

Secure Option on Property and Make Plans to Have Organization Home

Knights of Columbus are to have a local club house, which will be a credit to Glendale.

"We are going to have an ideal suburban country club!" exclaimed Grand Knight Harry Girard recently. "It will have a complete gymnasium, showers, bowling alleys, a billiard room and all that sort of thing. Every man, who is eligible to membership in this organization, will have good reason to be proud of this fact."

The new club house should be ready by the first of February. Necessary construction will start within the next thirty days.

An option was secured yesterday by the building committee on a site at 120 East Lomita avenue. The property has a depth of 175 feet and a frontage of 100 feet on the south side of Lomita avenue, almost directly across the street from the rear of the Holy Family Catholic church.

Large Council Room

The home of Mrs. Dora L. Glazier, which now occupies the property, is to be remodeled and a large council room equal in size to that at the Elks' club house, is to be joined to it at the rear. This is one of the most attractive residences in Glendale. It was erected in 1907 for Harry Glazier, who for two years previous to his death in 1908, was a star at the Burbank theatre in Los Angeles.

The architecture of this twelve-room frame residence follows the lines of a Swiss chalet somewhat. Across the full width of the 39-foot front is a nine-foot veranda. The appearance of the west side of the house is relieved by a cobblestone chimney.

The second story contains a bathroom and five bedrooms. These will be rented to knights who desire to live in the club house.

All Conveniences

The first floor will be remodeled. Across the front will be a reception room, 16 feet deep by 37 feet wide. The west side of the house will contain a card room, 14 by 28 feet in size. On the same side of the house will be the office of the resident man-

SOME WET LEAKS ON DRY VESSELS

Certain Amount of Liquor Will Be Allowed to Enter United States

By W. H. ATKINS
For International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24.—New regulations, framed under the Daugherty ruling outlawing liquors from shipping in American waters, will safeguard the rights of foreign ships to possess abundant stocks of medicinal whiskey and will allow wet supplies in required volume to enter the United States for foreign diplomats, it was declared today at the treasury department.

Conferences between treasury and state department officials and representatives of the department of justice resulted today in a decision to permit complete freedom of action by foreign envoys in importing and transporting large amounts of liquor and wine for their embassies and legations at Washington.

Ready for Signatures

The regulations today were ready for the signatures of Secretary of the Treasurer Mellon. The foreign liquor tangle was again a feature of the cabinet discussion today.

Later it became known that despite the rigid prohibitions of the Daugherty ruling and the regulations drawn for its strict enforcement the president has directed subordinate officials of the government to proceed with "caution" until the United States supreme court decides the case growing out of injunction proceedings before Judge Hand at New York.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes accordingly has instructed all liquor law enforcement agencies to apply the rule of common sense in enforcing the new order.

See Long, Wet Spell

WASHINGTON, Oct. 24—Eight hundred thousand barrels of fine old whiskey remain in bond, guarded by the government.

"It's enough to last the country for twenty years, without any further distilling, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes said today.

Inventory of the whiskey stocks has been completed preparatory to transfer to new concentration warehouses.

Again Grilled In Wife Murder Trial

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Henry Wilkens, calmed by a night's rest, resumed the witness stand today to undergo a further fire of cross-examination at the hands of Assistant District Attorney Leo Friedman, who in a three-hour grilling late yesterday brought Wilkens almost to a state of collapse.

The auto mechanic on trial for the murder of his wife cried on the stand. Tears flowed when on direct examination he related the circumstances attending the death of his wife. Later tears of rage came as he gave vent to his anger under the last of Friedman's questioning. His cross-examination was expected to take up the greater part of today.

When I was running the sewing machine, pains caught me across my kidneys. I felt so tired I could hardly do anything. I had dizzy spells and specks came before my eyes. I used four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of the attack. The backache and all other symptoms left and I felt well again."

J. D. Spreckels In Suit Over Agreement

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—If suit instituted by John D. Spreckels, as special administrator of the estate of his son, John O. Spreckels, Jr., is successful, Mrs. Edith Spreckels Wakefield will lose an annuity of $350 monthly under a contract which she entered into with young Spreckels before their divorce.

The annuity was in lieu of alimony and property settlement. Mrs. Wakefield sued on the agreement and secured a judgment of $10,300. Spreckels, Sr., today had on file a petition to set aside this judgment contending the agreement was void. Mrs. Wakefield figured in the recent Kendrick love triangle suits.

BIG INSTITUTION FOR CLEANLINESS

Glendale Laundry, Using All Modern Methods, Steadily Grows With City

Open house was a special feature of today's routine out at the Glendale Laundry at Arden and Columbus avenues, the event featuring the beginning of the national observance of "Laundry Visitors' Week," and Glendalians accepting the hospitality of the laundry were taken "through the wash," figuratively speaking.

Aside from the fact that visitors were received it was a regular day at the laundry and according to Manager W. E. Hewitt, Tuesday is but one of the busy six days crowded into each week. Employes of every department were busy about their various tasks and a visitor at the plant today had the opportunity to satisfy his wonderment of what a modern laundry looks like inside, and also to find out that the Glendale Laundry stands among other local industries as a splendidly co-ordinated plant, both as to construction and administration.

Interesting Study

Ideally located in the northern part of the city, almost in the shadow of the Verdugo Hills, the Glendale Laundry presents a most interesting study from the artistically arranged and modernly equipped administrative offices to the check room, where the drivers secure the packages of finished laundry for delivery to patrons.

The offices are located in the southwest corner of the plant and the visitor is immediately impressed by their attractiveness.

Ivory woodwork, art tapestry paper, mahogany furniture and the most modern equipment combine in affording ideal administrative quarters. It is in this suite of rooms that Manager Hewitt's office is located and where the technical details of the business are supervised by Miss Mary Holm, head bookkeeper.

It is a long distance from the office to the receiving and checking room, but when the visitor sees Miss Holm and her assistant carefully checking files of lists one realizes that the direct handling of the clothes is just one of the parts of a laundry system.

Cleanliness Everywhere

Cleanliness in every detail, adequate lighting and good air are the things that the visitor first notices upon entering the large room where the actual laundrying processes take place. These features are outstanding ones at the Glendale Laundry plant and according to experts on laundry buildings they are not surpassed anywhere in the country.

Of particular interest to visitors this week at the Glendale Laundry is a small table exhibit showing the materials used in the laundry process. There are only six and samples are arranged on a table and labeled soap, soda, starch, escolite, bleach and wash powder.

Sketching the departmental arrangement of the plant one finds the receiving rooms, where the drivers leave the laundry bundles and where the clothes are sorted and marked; the engine and boiler room, an ideally equipped department under the supervision of George Tryon, engineer; the washing department, where the clothes are put into large electric washers and washed and rinsed; the wringing department, where the clothes are wrung in large extractors; the various drying and starching departments, where the various kinds of clothes are handled; the ironing departments equipped for handling different types of garments; the sewing department, where tears are mended; the rough dry department where the rough dry work is checked and sorted; the sorting department and the drivers' racks, where the finished clothes are checked and arranged in bundles ready for delivery; and finally the "short room," where any left-over garments are stored until placed.

Comforts for Employes

In addition to the arrangement of the plant for handling the three kinds of laundering, finished work, rough dry and wet wash, special arrangement has been made for the comfort and care of the employes. A large medical closet, fully equipped, is found near the offices, while a conveniently furnished rest room for the women employes is located on the north side of the building. Another feature is the complete fire fighting equipment stationed about the building.

Of the mechanical equipment of the laundry special mention should be made of the modern Cascade washing machine, which does the work of four of the other type of washers in the plant and also conserves the clothes by the method in which they are picked up and dropped during the washing process.

Another fine piece of machinery is the large flat ironer, which is a wonderful work of mechanical art. It has an ironing space of 120 inches and is equipped with six cylinders around which the sheets and similar pieces are passed and ironed. The machine is equipped with every automatic device and safety appliance and the cylinders over which the laundry passes are about eight inches in diameter and then padded with wool to a diameter of perhaps twenty inches.

Visitors Welcome

Having a shirt or collar laundered means little more to most folks than sending it away in a bundle and in a few days having it come home perfectly laundered. But to the visitors to the laundry these processes will mean more after they visit the collar and shirt departments and witness the operation of the various machines required for laundering a shirt or collar and see that neither process is done with one fell swoop.

To Glendalians who accept the invitation of Manager Hewitt to visit the Glendale Laundry this week the modern laundry will be a real institution in their lives and when they drive down Arden avenue and suddenly see a great red smokestack steaming away on what might be a great liner they'll know it's the good ship "Cleanliness" flying the flag of the Glendale Laundry company and captained by W. E. Hewitt, assisted by Superintendent Johnson and Miss Lillie Inglis, forelady.

Good Health Week Observed In City October 23 to 30

Much interest is being shown in Glendale as to "Good Health Week," which is being observed throughout the United States. The idea is to call attention to better ventilation, sanitation and personal hygiene.

It is declared that good health depends upon these matters. Much cold weather sickness is said to be due to "indoor exposure," which results from faulty heating. Leaving an over-heated room for one that is chilled is a common manner in bringing on sickness, it is declared by local persons who are boosting the week.

The subject has recently been given greater consideration by employers of great numbers of men, who have found that the working efficiency of their men is greatly increased by the proper observing of suggestions being worked out.

Ex-Kaiser Displays Love-Sickness Signs

DOORN, Holland, Oct. 24.—William Hohenzollern, former German Kaiser, as the date of his marriage, Nov. 5, approaches, is showing signs of sprightliness which usually accompanies a love match, it is learned today from persons who came in contact with him.

For the past few days, however, he has been subdued over the remembrances of his first wife, whose birthday anniversary fell on Sunday.

Princess Hermine of Reuss, the former war lord's betrothed, will wear lilac and black at the two marriage services. For the civil ceremony the princess has chosen a gown of light lilac with silver metal embroidery and a "widow" velvet hat of a soft shade of violet under a trimming of black, on which the Hohenzollern colors are mingled with those of the former German empire.

At the religious ceremony the Princess Hermine will wear a gown of black charmeuse velvet with a train of chantilly lace. Her coiffure will be adorned with a beautiful diamond diadem, an heirloom of the Reuss family.

The gowns and hats are being completed by the firm of Drecell, in Berlin, who have been court dressmakers for nearly a century.

Revenue Cutter at Sea Without Fuel

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 24.—Further ill-luck has befallen the voyage of the revenue cutter Mojave which has on board Assistant Secretary of Commerce Huston and a party of government officials. The vessel was once reported lost in a Japanese typhoon only to turn up safely in port. She is now reported without fuel 900 miles west of Honolulu. Radio reports said a tug was en route today with fuel from Honolulu to rescue the drifting cutter.

LIGHTWEIGHT GO FOR MAIN EVENT

O'Hara and Benjamin Will Provide Real Battle In Vernon Ring Tonight

Teddy O'Hara, hard hitting Oakland lightweight, and Joe Benjamin will face each other tonight at the Vernon arena in what promises to be one of the best main events ever staged at Jack Doyle's palace of swat. Both boys have been going at a rapid pace of late and each is in his best form for a real battle.

In the semi-windup the fans will be treated to a tilt which promises as much action as the main event. Bobby Allen, whose stock was materially boosted when he recently defeated Jimmy Marcus, is scheduled to hook up with "Bud" Soules, who was formerly a prime favorite in southern California boxing circles. Soules' reappearance in the local four round game will be welcomed by many of the old timers.

Other bouts to be staged during the evening are as follows: Benny Kilroy vs. Joe Layman, Frankie Novey vs. Ray Schauer, "Red" Davis vs. Joey Murphy, Ed Bowen vs. Fred Brady and Al Crisp vs. Al Guillot.

Much Advance Stuff

If the dopesters ever want to get busy this week is the time. A larger supply of the "pre-game" stuff, and at the same time being more variable regarding the probable outcome, is being peddled at this time as a preliminary to next Saturday's California-U. S. C. clash than has preceded any athletic event in these parts for many moons. Yet, in spite of all of the predictions made by the "guard house" lawyers but very little money is being wagered on the final result of the great intersectional clash.

The outstanding fact which is causing the experts more worry than anything else is the mystery surrounding Gus Henderson's well comauflaged Trojan camp. From the beginning of the season the Cardinal and Gold pigskinners have been objects of pessimism for their long-faced mentor. Although this was to be expected Henderson himself never even dreamed that his plans would work out so perfectly.

Both in the Arizona and Nevada games his squad showed practically nothing except just enough straight football to slip over the necessary digits to clinch the contests. "Bullet" Baker, "Hobo" Kincaid, Phil Tiernan and Gordon Campbell have not been shown to their best ability, while it is doubtful if the backs who were in the game were exerting themselves to the utmost at all times. At times the Methodists have appeared more aggressive than their famous 1921 squad, while on the other hand they have showed just as many reversals of last year's form.

Out For Big Score

One thing is certain about the score of the contest—both Andy Smith and Gus Henderson are going to pile up as many points as will be humanly possible during the sixty minutes of turmoil on the new Arroyo Seco stadium. Both coaches are expected to unearth arrays of gridiron trickery, fake plays, false formations, etc., that will eclipse anything ever displayed on the coast. Both squads have been pointed for the contest, the result of which will practically assure the winner of representation in the annual New Year's East vs. West game.

With "Brick" Muller, Archie Nisbit, Don Nichols, Charlie Erb, et al, going at full speed it is generally conceded that the Berkeleyites will win from the southerners, while the margin of victory varies with the dopesters from one touchdown to forty points.

DINNER PARTY FOR TWELVE

Mr. and Mrs. Don Packer of 141 South Columbus avenue entertained with a dinner party for twelve at their home Sunday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Charles, Jr., of San Francisco. The Hallowe'en motif and colors were carried out in the decorations. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Charles, Sr., of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Cook and daughter Emily of San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. Gus H. Pulliam and son Duncan of Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Charles, Jr., of San Francisco and Mr. and Mrs. Don Packer.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

Mrs. E. V. Bacon, chairman of ways and means of the Thursday Afternoon club, together with the members of her committee have left nothing undone toward making a success of the bazaar to be given by that organization tomorrow at Yeoman hall for the benefit of the club building fund. Booths of every description will be evidence to attract the visitors. Dinner will be served at 6:30 o'clock and later in the evening orchestra music will be provided for dancing.

HONOR BRIDE ELECT

Miss Alice Lookabaugh of 367 West Wilson avenue and Miss Murray Longley were joint hostesses last night at the home of the former at a kitchen shower given in honor of Miss Margaret McPherson, bride-elect. A ludicrous mock wedding, with all details carried in burlesque, was the crowning feature of the evening's fun. The contracting parties in this were Miss Dora Wainwright, bride; Mrs. Willard Keith, groom; Miss Miriam Rich officiated in tying the knot, Mrs. Robert Ford was flower girl, and Miss Murray Longley carried the ring in a frying pan, which was one of the many useful gifts destined for the guest of honor. Delicious refreshments of Boston cream pie and hot chocoate were served. Miss McPherson was the recipient of a number of pretty and useful gifts.

Those present were Miss Margaret McPherson, Miss Dorothy McPherson, Miss Dora Wainwright, Miss Mirim Rich, Miss Faith Tarling, Miss Helen Cobb, Miss Alice Lookabaugh, Miss Murray Longley, Miss Marian Hindman, a cousin of the bride-elect, who has recently arrived from the east and will be bridesmaid at the wedding; Mrs. Robert Ford, Mrs. W. A. Stuart, Mrs. Willard Keith, Mrs. Margaret Longley, Mrs. S. J. Lookabaugh, Mrs. H. A. McPherson.

HOSTESS AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. L. H. Wilson of Marcell court, Park avenue, near San Fernando road, will be luncheon hostess at 12:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon to the members of Glen Eyrie Social club, O. E. S. She will be assisted as hostess by Mrs. Mayme Pollock and Mrs. Franc Rondou. Luncheon will be followed by a short business session of the club.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

A bit more light has been thrown on the mysterious open house of the "Dime Diggers" Thursday at 307 North Kenwood street, by the announcement that Mesdames E. W. W. Hayward and E. U. Emery are to be hostesses at the affari.

Also a bit more mystery has been added to the affair by the promise that "Smiling Circles" will be an entertainment feature of the afternoon tea.

Among the good things to be provided to eat will be meat loaf, nut bread, raisin loaf, hot rolls, mince, lemon and banana pies, jellies and countless other good things. Along with the announcement of these tempting good things comes word that orders for other things may be phoned to either Glendale 1948 or Glendale 528.

MRS. WOODARD HOSTESS

Mrs. Bert P. Woodard of 214 North Maryland avenue entertained a group of friends at a jolly bunko party at her home last night. Her guests included Mrs. Charles H. Temple, Mrs. Fay Stone, Mrs. Albert Pearce, Mrs. James Flint, Mrs. Mabel F. Ocker, Mrs. Cameron Thom, Mrs. L. N. Hagood, Mrs. Arthur Dibbern, Mrs. Warren Roberts, Mrs. J. W. McCoy, Mrs. John M. Ray, Mrs. R. E. Chase, Mrs. Mabel Rudy, Mrs. A. M. Beamon and Mrs. J. F. Hearnshaw. During the evening the guests were surprised by a "gypsy" fortune teller in costume, who later proved to be Miss Mabel Parks of Los Angeles, cousin of Mr. Woodard. First prize at bunko was awarded to Mrs. Arthur Dibbern. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, including salad, and individual cakes in the form of yellow chrysanthemums.

Legal Battle Over Husband's Evidence

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 24.—The prosecution in the trial of Mrs. Clara Phillips for the "hammer murder" of Mrs. Alberta Meadows will pierce legal barriers to get before the jury the story of how she was surrendered to the authorities by her husband, Armour L. Phillips.

Over strenuous objections by Mrs. Phillips' lawyer, Deputy District Attorney Frick will produce evidence to show that information given Sheriff Traeger by Phillips resulted in her arrest at Tucson, Ariz., and the "confession" of Mrs. Peggy Caffee, eyewitness to the murder.

This became known today following the arrival in Los Angeles of Jesus Comacho, Tucson deputy sheriff, who took Mrs. Phillips from the train on which she was headed for El Paso and the Mexican border.

There will be no recital next week because of Hallowe'en, but during the remainder of the term there will be weekly programs.

Theatres

The Glendale

Rex Ingram, director of the great film story, "The Prisoner of Zenda," now the attraction at the Glendale Theatre, finds himself like many others of the Hollywood picture colony, chafing under the incessant talk of its depravity. It was in the course of his making of the photoplay of Anthony Hope's novel, as dramatized by Edward Rose, that Mr. Ingram remarked, "Whenever a reformer hasn't anything better to do, he starts knocking on Hollywood for luck."

Mr. Ingram has achieved his greatest success in "The Prisoner of Zenda." Because of its unbounded faith in his ability and artistry Metro told him to go ahead and make the film and send the bill to the company. So the young man who won a B. F. A. from Yale for the artistry of "The Four Horsemen" has been granted a T. O. M. by the exhibitors of the world. B. F. A. stands for Bachelor of Fine Arts; T. O. M. stands for Thanks, Old Man."

The T. D. & L.

Is the modern world, like ancient Rome, racing to ruin on a wave of jazz and cocktails?

The greatest of all Cecil De Mille productions, "Manslaughter," being shown at T. D. & L., gives the startling answer.

Stronger in cast and story, more gorgeous in gowns and settings, more amazingly beautiful in spectacle than anything ever seen upon the screen. With lovely Leatrice Joy as a reckless society beauty and Thomas Meighan as the hero, who, loving her, sends her to prison.

The most famous scene in the picture is the Roman bacchanal showing Rome just before the fall, pagan Rome with all its licentiousness and debauched beauty. At the heighth of the revel the barbarian hordes storm the gates and pillage, burn and destroy everything in their path.

Glendale Personals

Mrs. Durham Porter of 517 West Doran street will entertain a group of six friends at a luncheon at her home Thursday afternoon.

Judge and Mrs. Owen C. Emery and son Jack of 106-A East Broadway and Mr. and Mrs. Fred T. Babson motored to Santa Barbara Sunday to spend the day with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Eaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Swaner and son William of 452 West Milford street and Mr. and Mrs. R. Chestnut and family of Bell, enjoyed a motor trip and picnic party at Long Beach Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans of North Orange street will be dinner guests tonight of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Swaner of 452 West Milford street. Mr. Evans is leaving this week on a business trip to New York City.

Mrs. C. A. Brandstater of 401 West Wilson avenue returned yesterday from a ten weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Ohio. She was accompanied east by her son Kenneth, who is spending this week in San Francisco. Mrs. Brandstater was accompanied home by her nephew, Kenneth Barnard of Toledo, who will spend the winter here. Mrs. Brandstater also visited in Chicago, Denver and San Francisco.

Real Estate Market Here Reported Good

The real estate business is in a healthy state and getting even better, declares George A. Blanchet, local realtor, 117 South Brand boulevard.

During the past two months it is announced that Mr. Blanchet has concluded exchanges in which branch of the business he specializes, to the amount of more than $315,000. These trades are said to have been made in Los Angeles, for it is reported that Mr. Blanchet has found himself so busy that he has had to open a branch office in that city, though still continuing his line here. On last Sunday it is reported that he had five new clients at his Glendale office, three of whom before leaving placed deposits on purchases of real estate here.

SERVING ON BURCH JURY

The Might of the Mite

Says "Common Cent":

"The strength of the wolf is in the pack; but the strength of the pack is the wolf." "How small, how powerless a single drop of water seems." "A myriad of drops rushing over a precipice make the mighty Niagara. Here is untold energy. Harness it and it drives your street cars, lights your cities, turns the wheels of industry." "I, too, am little. But with my brothers, 'Common Cents,' I can work wonders. I am power, wealth, attainment to those who know me, use me right and put my energy to work."

Probably you have often said to yourself: "I am going to start saving!" Then again you've thought: "Oh, well, what's the use? I cannot spare enough to really count?" Then it's the time for you to "think again." No matter how small the bit you can afford to put aside out of your earnings, do not make the mistake to despise it. Resolve NOW to save it. You'll find it easy. And, after ever so short a time, you will be surprised to find out how rapidly your reserve is mounting up.

Right now while the thought is in your mind, drop in and talk things over with us. We will gladly help you map out a "savings program."

A SONG OF HATE

I sang the other day, a song of the things I love — the simple, everyday, common things that make life beautiful to me.

Today I sing the opposite of that song, a lament against some of the things I hate, the simple, everyday, common things that make life unbeautiful to me.

And these are some of the things that I hate:

Worse Than Curl Papers

Men in their vests and shirt-sleeves.

Men in their shirts, collarless and with the collar band unbuttoned. If Apollo Belvidere came to breakfast that way on Olympus, he would be atrocious looking. Talk about curl papers, I don't believe any woman ever looked worse in them than her man with his collarless collarband.

High pitched, nasal voices.

Noisy, unmusical laughs, especially when the possessor has the nervous trick of laughing over everything—or nothing.

That frightful smell that emanates from a dead cigar.

One's Own Different

Other people's Victrolas endlessly grinding out poor jazz on the porch of a summer evening that would otherwise be exquisitely beautiful.

People who say, "I'll tell the world so," (or any of its later variations).

People who persist in telling you the plots of stories and plays.

Red Necks and Derby Hats

The backs of men's necks when they are red and have deep creases and bulge out over the collar, and especially when they are all this and in addition are flanked by ears that stick out, and topped by a derby hat.

All derby hats.

Brown derby hats to distraction.

Lines of half washed clothes.

Fretful, whining voices, and all self-pitiers.

These are some of the things that help make life unbeautiful at times to me.

What's the use of talking about things you hate?

Just because I have a hunch you may hate some of them, too, Reader friend, and don't you think it's a lot of fun to hate together?

BREAKFAST SAUSAGE

I have almost been swamped with requests for a recipe for good country sausage. With the approach of colder weather it is right that we should include in our menus more of the heat-producing foods, such as the fat of meats, butter, cream, oils and the like.

Sausage is one of the most delectable of winter breakfast dishes, but to really enjoy it one must know of what it is made. It is extremely difficult to get good breakfast sausage in the markets. There is no comparison between the produce of one's own kitchen, composed of choice portions of meat, carefully blended with fresh spices, and that mystery of mysteries which frequently masquerades under the name of "breakfast sausage,"—a highly seasoned compound of cereals, refuse and fat, half of which vanishes in the cooking.

One can hardly imagine a housekeeper of even a comparatively few years ago accepting this doubtful substitute for the spicy rings of sausage with which she served her justly-famous griddle cakes or waffles. And when we have the ever-ready food chopper at hand, there is no need of having any but the best of breakfast sausage today.

A majority of modern housekeepers will prefer to make their own sausage in small quantities throughout the winter, and for this reason I am giving a modified recipe:

Breakfast Sausage — Two and one-half pounds of fresh young pork, two teaspoons salt, one-half tablespoon black pepper, two teaspoons sage, one-half teaspoon summer savory, one teaspoon thyme. In purchasing pork for sausage, see to it that the butcher gives a good portion of lean meat. Too much fat means too much shrinkage in cooking and a more indigestible article of diet.

Run the meat through the food chopper using the medium-sized cutting knife. Place in a mixing bowl, add the salt and spices and mix thoroughly with a wooden paddle or knead with the hands.

Shape into a loaf about twelve inches long and three inches wide and wrap in a clean white cotton which has been sterilized and thoroughly dried. Put in a cool, dry place. When wanted for use, turn back the cloth and slice the sausage in rounds about one inch thick.

Put one tablespoon sweet lard, butter or other preferred cooking fat in a frying pan, melt and heat it, then place sausage rounds in pan quickly, sear both sides, then reduce gas flame and cook more slowly, turning frequently to insure even cooking.

Sausage with Apple Rings—Select tart apples, wash and core them (do not peel them), slice in one-half inch slices. When the sausage rounds have been removed to hot platter, put the apple rings in the hot fat remaining in frying pan and cook until a nice golden brown on one side, then turn and cook the other side. When done, place one apple ring on each sausage round and serve hot.

Hot Rolls en Surprise—Make a baking powder biscuit dough, knead lightly, roll and pat into one-half inch sheet, cut with biscuit cutter into rounds. Place a small roll (about the size of the little finger) of breakfast sausage on one-half, fold the other half over, press edges together, place on baking sheet a little distance apart and bake in hot oven twenty to twenty-five minutes. Nice for either breakfast or luncheon.

Woods' Legislative Program Proceeding

MANILA, Oct. 24.—Governor General Wood's legislative program for rehabilitation of Philippine affairs was assured plain sailing by the ratification last night of party agreements fusing the Nacionalistas and the Collectives into a new party to be known as the Liberal Nacionalistas. This fusion of the followers of Manuel Quezon and Senor Osmena disrupts the old Nacionalista party.

General Wood's message will be delivered before a joint session of both houses of the Philippine legislature Wednesday following the election of a young English speaking member as speaker.

Mrs. Marietta Denniston (left) set a new record last week by climbing to Point Peter, the top of the twin mountains overlooking Port Jervis, N. Y. She made the trip with Mrs. Laura Pierce, 63, of Matamoras, Pa., and was particularly delighted with the journey. While Point Peter is no Mont Blanc, it rises sharply to 500 feet above the city and the only road to the top is the skyline drive that was opened recently and this means a trip of three and a half miles by this route.

Beauty Chats by Edna Kent Forbes

ANSWERED LETTERS

Oily Nose—Wipe the skin off with a bit of cloth on which there is some simple astringent, such as witch hazel or a few drops of benzoin in about a pint of water.

Simple toilet vinegars are also good for closing the pores.

L. S.—Equal parts of peroxide and ammonia are used in the mixture as a strong bleach for this hair on the arms. Occasionally this will destroy superflous hair, but usually merely bleaches it.

Miss J. W.—I shall be glad to mail you the formula for the cucumber bleach on receipt of a s. a. e.

Violette—Boil all your underclothes and put into the water a germicide. Most of the bleaching fluids for laundry work contain a germicide. Take a full hot bath every day and scrub the skin, using an antiseptic soap; even a fine grade of soap for fleas on animals will not hurt the skin and may completely free you from these pests. Only absolute cleanliness will prevent a recurrence of the trouble.

Devoted Reader, O. E. D., Boney—At 19 years, five feet in height, weight will be normal at 105 pounds. Add or subtract two pounds for each inch above or below this measure; and do the same with each year, allowing a half pound for each one.

Mary D.—It would hasten your recovery if you could have professional treatment once each week for your skin. You should also learn how to treat yourself so as to be able to do the work at home. After years of abuse, your skin will require all the help you can give it through healthful methods.

Bobbed Hair—You should consult the bride and be governed by what she would have you wear when acting as her maid of honor. Usually there is some color scheme that is used and the bride's maids select such colors for their dresses as will harmonize with the scheme. This same advice applies to your question regarding the wearing of a hat, or tulle on the head. Never embarrass the bride by wearing anything that she has not approved of, after she has honored you by requesting that you be one of her attendants.

A. T. C. M.—I will be glad to mail you the cream formula if you send a stamped addressed envelope repeating your request. If you prefer a druggist to make up the creams, there should be no reason why he should not do it; but the work is so interesting that most women prefer to make their own.

Tomorrow—Horse Radish Bleach

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Arranging Plans for K. C. Essay Contest

Preliminary arrangements have been made for the Knights of Columbus Interdiocese Essay day, which will be held next February. Although the date for the contest is several months off schools throughout California are already preparing for participation, according to Henry Hoffman, chairman of the committee in charge of the contest.

Every school in California is expected to enter the competition for the best essay written on "Fra Junipero Serra, founder of the California missions.."

The contest will be divided into two district units with equal prizes for each unit. All pupils from and including the fifth grade up to and including the eighth grade will comprise one unit. High school students will form the other unit. The state has been divided into three dioceses: San Francisco, Sacramento and Los Angeles.

Gold medals will be awarded to all pupils in each unit whose essays have been deemed best in merit. Silver medals will be awarded to all second-place contestants and bronze medals to those with the third best essay. There will be a limit of 500 words on all essays.

The superior of each school will select the two best essays in that school, forwarding them to the chairmen of their respective dioceses. An additional trophy will be awarded the school of each unit where the pupil of that institution captures premier honors.

Diet and Health

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember always to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose 4 cents in stamps, extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper and please remember that, on account of the hundreds of letters received in every mail, I cannot make personal replies. I appreciate very much the beautiful personal letters you send me, and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest; for the rest you must consult your personal physicians.

"Dear Doctor Peters:

"I have a friend, and she is a wise woman in most things, but she thinks she doesn't eat very much, and she speaks of other people who are 20 per cent or so overweight as being twice as big as she is, and yet if she isn't 100 per cent overweight, I'll eat my new hat—and it's very becoming and I'm not quite closely enough related to the donkey to relish straw. But I'm not brave enough to send her your diet articles, and for goodness sake, if you should happen to print this, don't use my initials or she might recognize me. Keep on with your prevention articles.—Mrs."

We hope she will see this and recognize herself.

Have you heard this story? A man died and as he came to St. Peter, St. Peter looked up his record and said: "You are recorded as a very good man but you have told 10,000 lies. I cannot reconcile those two statements. Will you explain?"

The good man responded: "Well, you see, Saint Peter, it was like this: My wife was a stout woman and every time we passed another stout woman on the street, she always said, 'I am not as stout as she is, am I, dear?'"

Saint Peter bade him enter with the remark that if he kept out all of the men who had transgressed in this manner, there would be very few men in heaven.

Lillian—There is nothing I know of that will make straight hair curly, except the permanent wave process. If that is done by reliable concerns there is apparently no harm done to the hair. It lasts about until the hair grows out. I have had mine done five times since the process was invented and am just on the verge of another.

Lillian's Mother — Superflous hairs are removed permanently only by electrolysis in the hands of an expert. They may be temporarily removed by pulling them out or shaving or by the use of depilatories.

I could give you the prescription of one but it is rather dangerous to give prescriptions in this manner for fear of typographical errors. I believe most of the standard depilatories on the markets are good, but if you will send a stamped addressed envelope, repeating your request, you may have the prescription. Peroxide of hydrogen will bleach the dark hairs and make them less conspicuous. I know that if I had a beard or a moustache I should either have the hairs out by electrolysis or a depilitory or pull them out one by one, a certain number every day, or shave. Well groomed men shave every day—sometimes oftener. I have seen some women who ought to do the same. Why not? Of course, you would have to keep it up. But you have to keep up washing your neck, too.

Your other questions have been answered recently in the column. Why don't you let Lillian bob her hair, which you say is an ugly length? She wants to. It's a beautiful and sanitary style for a young girl.

Tomorrow—More Answers.

AND MASTER OF NONE

The champion jack-of-all-trades has just been discovered at Haynes, Eng. He is a monk and his name is Raymond. In the last three years he has, unaided, built a church hall. In doing it he acted as sanitary engineer, installed a heating system, fitted the church with electricity, put in ventilators, made the furniture, and installed all the glass work.

He did this, however, in only part of his spare moments, for during the rest of his time he cuts his colleagues' hair, brews non-alcoholic beer, serves as gardener, acts as doctor and nurse, makes clothing for the rest of the community, embroiders church vestments and canopies, and edits a magazine.

Brother Raymond also does a good deal of sculpture work, teaches music, French, and Spanish, acts as a dentist for the order, darns and knits socks, takes his turn as cook, and repairs.

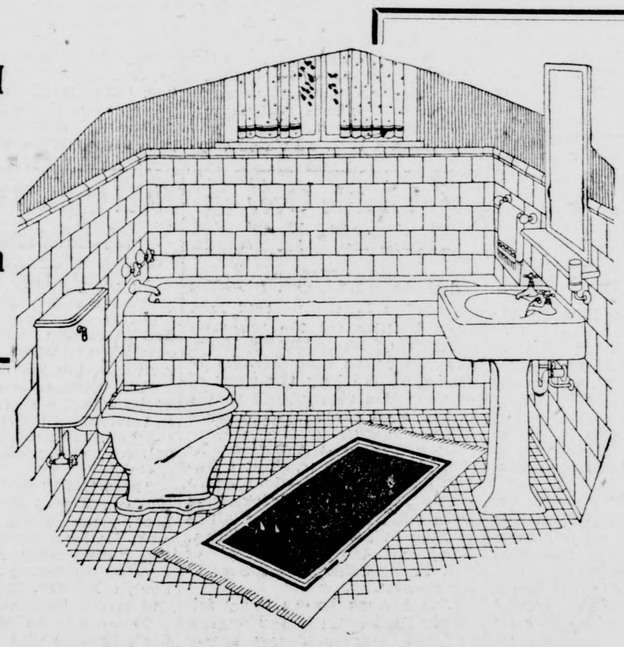
"GOOD HEALTH WEEK"

Oct. 23 to Oct. 30th 1922



Safeguarding THE HEALTH OF THE HOME

¶ Modern, sanitary plumbing equipment in every dwelling is essential to health. The plumbing dealer does more to safeguard the health in the home than any other servant of the community. He works in advance of, yet hand in hand, with the physician.

¶ When the doctor is called, his healing power depends largely upon whether or not that home has modern plumbing. Running water, hot and cold; ample bathing facilities, modern water closets, sanitary disposal of waste matter. These are as the doctor's right hand in soothing pain and curing illness.

¶ Good Health Week, October 23 to October 30th, is the occasion for national attention to "ventilation, sanitation and personal hygiene." It should find every community and every home aroused to the imperative need for modern, sanitary plumbing as the first and most practical means of safeguarding health.

Doctor and plumbing dealer both are entitled to your respect and confidence. When the plumbing dealer urges what the doctor recommends, he is acting as much in your behalf as his own. Neither doctor or plumbing dealer can do good work without your interested and intelligent co-operation. Neither can work miracles.

Above all, your own dwelling should be completely provided with modern, sanitary plumbing. Every householder and property owner should be fully informed as to what is possible—and economical—in this modern equipment for safeguarding the health of the home.

Feel free to call on us at any time for more information about Sanitary Plumbing; you assume no obligation in so doing

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs

"Just a moment," said Theriere raising his hand. "You're not going to take me alive, and I have no idea that you want to anyhow, and if you start anything in the killing line some of you are going to Davy Jones' locker along with me. The best thing for all concerned is to divide up this party now once and for all.

As he finished speaking he turned toward Billy Byrne.

"Are you and the others with me, or against me?" he asked.

"I'm ag'in' Simms," replied the mucker non-committally.

Bony Sawyer, Red Sanders, Blanco, Wison, and two others drew in behind Billy Byrne.

"We's all wid Billy," announced Blanco.

Divine and Barbara Harding stood a little apart. Both were alarmed at the sudden, hostile turn of events. Simms, Ward and Theriere were the only members of the party armed. Each wore a revolver strapped about his hips. All were still dripping from their recent plunge in the ocean.

Five men stood behind Skipper Simms and Ward, but there were two revolvers upon that side of the argument. Suddenly Ward turned toward Divine.

"Are you armed, Mr. Divine?" he asked.

Divine nodded affirmatively.

"Then you'd better come over with us—it looks like we might need you to help put down this mutiny," said Ward.

Divine hesitated. He did not know which side was most likely to be victorious, and he wanted to be sure to be on the winning side. Suddenly an inspiration came to him.

"This is purely a matter to be settled by the ship's officers," he said. "I am only a prisoner, call me a passenger if you like—I have no interest whatever in the matter, and shall not take sides."

"Yes you will," said Mr. Ward, in a low, but menacing tone. "You're in too deep to try to ditch us now. If you don't stand by we'll treat you as one of the mutineers when we're through with them, and you can come pretty near a-guessin' what they'll get."

Divine was about to reply, and the nature of his answer was suggested by the fact that he had already taken a few steps in the direction of Simms' faction, when he was stopped by the low voice of the girl behind him.

"Larry," she said, "I know all—your entire connection with this plot. If you have a spark of honor or manhood left you will do what little you can to retrieve the terrible wrong you have done me, and my father. You can never marry me. I give you my word of honor that I shall take my own life if that is the only way to thwart your plans in that direction, and so, as the fortune can never be yours it seems to me that the next best thing would be to try and save me from the terrible predicament in which your cupidity has placed me. You can make the start now, Larry, by walking over and placing yourself at Mr. Theriere's disposal. He has promised to help and protect me."

A deep flush mounted to the man's face and neck. He did not turn about to face the girl he had so grievously wronged—for the life of him he could not have met her eyes. Slowly he turned, and with gaze bent upon the ground walked quickly toward Theriere.

Ward was quick to recognize the turn events had taken, and to see that it gave Theriere the balance of power, with two guns and nine men in his party against their two guns and seven men. It also was evident to him that to the other party the girl would naturally gravitate since Divine, an old acquaintance, had cast his lot with it; nor had the growing intimacy between Miss Harding and Theriere been lost upon him.

Ward knew that Simms was an arrant coward, nor was he himself overly keen for an upstanding, man-to-man encounter such as must quickly follow any attempt upon his part to uphold the authority of Simms, or their claim upon the custody of the girl.

Intrigue and trickery were more to Mr. Ward's liking, and so he was quick to alter his plan of campaign the instant that it became evident that Divine had elected to join forces with the opposing faction.

"I reckon," he said, directing his remarks toward no one in particular, "that we've all been rather hasty in this matter, bein' het up as we were with the strain of what we been through an' so it seems to me, takin' into consideration that Mr. Theriere really done his best to save the ship, an' that as a matter of fact we was all mighty lucky to come out of it alive, that we'd better let bygones be bygones, for the time bein' at least, an' all of pitch in to save what we can from the wreckage, hunt water, rig up a camp, an' get things sort o' shipshape here instid o' squabblin' amongst ourselves."

"Suit yourself," said Theriere, "it's all the same to us," and his use of the objective pronoun seemed definitely to establish the existence of his factioh as a separate and distinct party.

Simms, from years of experience with his astute mate, was wont to acquiesce in anything that Ward proposed, though he had not the brains always to appreciate the purposes that prompted Ward's suggestions. Now, therefore, he nodded his approval of Squint Eye's proposal, feeling that whatever was in Ward's mind would be more likely to work out to Skipper Simms' interests than some unadvised act of Skipper Simms himself.

POLICE FORCE 'SIAMESE' TWINS

—Copyright Underwood & Underwood

Phil Lindecker (with pistol) and Charlie Dullea, with pump-gun, of the San Francisco shot-gun auto detective squad. They started as policemen on the same day and have always been assigned to the same detail. Recently they frustrated a $15,000 holdup of two officials of the Dairy Delivery company and "brought in" three of the four bandits, punctured with buck shot and revolver bullets. They also have to their credit the recovery of 1009 stolen autos in the past five years and the capture of half a dozen notorious bad men. When they are off duty they go to picnics together, pals on duty and off.

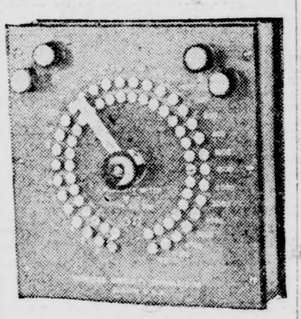
AUDIBILITY METERS



An audibility meter is not an absolute necessity for individual experimenters, but where clubs and laboratories are concerned it is a very desirable piece of equipment; is really essential where comparative tests are made of receivers and telephones, as it reduces the strength of signals to a definite standard basis of numerical comparison; thus, unit and audibility, or an audibility of one, is the strength of a signal that is just audible. By means of a variable shunt around the telephones it is possible to reduce the strength of signal to unit audibility. If the proportional current passing through the shunt is known the number of times audibility of signals can readily be determined, provided that at the same time an impedance is introduced in series with the detector output, so as to maintain constant the total impedance across the circuit.

THE MAGNETIC FIELD

If a compass needle is placed at various positions near a large bar magnet it changes its direction. This shows that in the space all around the magnet there are forces which act on magnetic poles. If iron filings are sprinkled on a level sheet of paper which lies over the magnet the filings will arrange themselves over each end of the magnet; that is, group themselves over the north and south poles. Each little particle of iron acts like a compass needle and points in a definite direction at a given position. These direction lines, called "magnetic lines of force," all appear to center in two points near the ends of the bar magnet. Two magnetic poles are said to be alike when they both attract or repel the same pole. If one attracts and the other repels the same pole they are said to be unlike. Therefore we learn that like ples repel each other and unlike attract each other. In electricity we call these poles positive (marked by the plus sign) and negative (marked by the minus sign).

The space around the magnet in which these lines of force exist is called the "magnetic field" and the direction of the magnetic field is the direction in which a compass needle will point if a compass is used as previously described. This needle will always point north.

There is always a magnetic field about a wire where a current is flowing, and this magnetic field has lines of force in the form of concentric circles about the wire. If the current stops, the magnetic field, together with its effects, disappears. When the current is started through the wire we may think of the magnetic field coming into being and sweeping outward from the axis as a center. This disappearing and rebuilding of the magnetic field as the current decreases and increases will be made use of in later articles and is the basis in explaining the most important principles which apply in radio circuits.

Book Reviews

The Cave Woman. By Norval Richardson. Charles Scribner's Sons, New York, is a novel that is written in a style far above the average, but that for this reason is disappointing in its bromidic quality. Mr. Richardson presents his cave woman and her intended victim in a remarkably well-handled scene on the boat from Naples to Capri. She is an immensely wealthy American, who has come to Italy seeking culture of a kind. She has become disappointed alike with her magnificent home in Santa Barbara and with her life there as a parvenu. Now she is determined to develop in herself the artistic and social qualities she lacks.

From the first hour of her encounter with the unsuccessful American author, Hogarth, she marked him for her own. The reader possessing the requisite fund of credulity will follow her machinations with interest. Step by step she advances to her goal until at last we see Hogarth firmly bound to her, his wife lost, his independence gone, his ambition to write dulled and his life rendered meaningless.

Then comes the East Lynne situation brought down to date, the disclosure and the grand climax, which somehow fails to produce quite the effect it should.

The novel is a sort of throwback to the Bertha M. Clay type of fiction, made particularly up-to-date by its very modern setting and the strong-arm characteristics of the lady villain.

With all its melodrama and its lack of convincing quality the book is not entirely a second-rater. One feels that Mr. Richardson has the ability to do better things when he hits the right trail.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY'S ELEVATOR

The weather of Woodland, where Uncle Wiggily lived, was acting most strangely. In the morning the sun might be shining, and then, all of a sudden, it would rain.

"It is more like April than October," said Uncle Wiggily, as he started out from his hollow stump bungalow one morning. "I hardly know whether or not to take an umbrella."

Then, as the sun happened to come out from behind the clouds, the bunny uncle said:

"I think it will clear. I won't bother about an umbrella."

But, no sooner had he hoped away, and was crossing a meadow to get to a clump of trees than, all of a sudden, it began to rain very hard again.

"Dear me!" cried Uncle Wiggily. "I should have brought an umbrella! My pink nose will get so wet it can't twinkle! Oh, what shall I do?"

Then he looked around and saw a little toadstool growing up through the ground.

"If you were only a larger toadstool I could use you for an umbrella," said Uncle Wiggily, trying to get his ears in under his hat to keep them dry. "But you are too small! Oh, for a large toadstool that I could use as an umbrella and keep dry!"

For you know I have told you that often the animal folk pick large sized toadstools and use them as umbrellas.

"If you were only larger!" sighed Uncle Wiggily as he looked at the baby toadstool. The rain was coming down harder and harder, and as there were not many leaves on the trees at this time of year, Uncle Wiggily knew it would do him little good to reach the forest clump. "Oh, why aren't you a big toadstool?" he asked.

"If you wait a few minutes I'll try to grow larger," spoke the toadstool, and Uncle Wiggily was quite surprised at this, for though he knew flowers had a language of their own, he never before had heard a toadstool speak.

"Oh, can you grow larger?" asked the rabbit gentleman, wiping a drop of rain from his pink nose.

"Of course I can," answered the toadstool. "I'm only a baby now. We toadstools are like mushrooms, you know—we grow very fast, but of course, we are not good to eat, as are mushrooms, so don't try to nibble me."

"I'll not," said the bunny. "But let me see you grow large enough so I can use you for an umbrella!"

Then and there, before Uncle Wiggily's eyes, the toadstool began to grow taller and taller, and the round upper part spread out until it was large enough to serve as an umbrella for the bunny.

"There! Pick me and keep dry!" said the toadstool, which had suddenly grown large. "I couldn't have grown so fast in dry weather, Uncle Wiggily," the toadstool said. "But I grow fast in rain."

"Thank you," spoke Uncle Wiggily, "you are very kind." Then he picked the toadstool and held it over his head, keeping off the pelting drops of rain. "This is part of an adventure," went on the bunny rabbit. "Perhaps I shall find the more exciting part a little farther on."

So he hopped along through the rain, coming to another part of the meadow, where he saw many toadstools just springing up. They were growing very fast, too, because of the dampness and heat.

"My! I could raise umbrellas here for all my friends," thought Uncle Wiggily. He was about to hop on, when, all of a sudden, looking across the field, he saw coming toward him the Woozie Wolf.

"Oh, my goodness!" thought the rabbit. "He's got me sure! There is no place to hide—not even under a toadstool umbrella, and if I start to hop toward the wood the Wolf will see me. Oh, what shall I do? How can I save my ears from being nibbled?"

"I'll save you, Uncle Wiggily," answered a voice.

"Who are you?" asked the bunny, for he saw no one.

"I am the largest toadstool of all," was the answer. "I am growing right beside you. Get up on me, hold fast, and I'll turn myself into an elevator."

"An elevator?" cried Uncle Wiggily, in surprise.

"Yes," answered the toadstool. "Hop on quickly for I am growing up very fast." Uncle Wiggily hopped up on the largest toadstool he saw. He had to be nimble, for it was growing fast.

No sooner was the bunny safely on the big round part, holding his toadstool umbrella over his head to keep off the rain, than the second toadstool began to grow faster. Up and up it went, like an elevator, carrying Uncle Wiggily with it.

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the bunny.

High up above the ground went the toadstool, and when the Wolf came sniffing along, all he saw was a toadstool stem. He never thought of looking up and seeing Uncle Wiggily just above him.

"Ha! ha!" laughed the bunny when the Wolf slunk away. "Toadstools are very useful. But how am I to get down?"

"You'll have to jump," answered the toadstool, "for I can't grow smaller. But hold the umbrella over your head like a parachute and you'll come down easily."

And Uncle Wiggily did and he wasn't hurt at all, and he had had a wonderful adventure.

So, if the hammer doesn't drive the nail out of doors where it will get wet and catch cold, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's broken chair.

LESSER OF TWO EVILS

Young Willie's mother wished him to be a preacher and, as is sometimes the habit of good women, kept telling him so. But Willie had other leanings and never hesitated to say so. One Sunday afternoon, however, after an unusually long morning service, he announced, "I b'lieve, after all, I'll be a preacher."

His delighted mother embraced him and then asked, "What made you change your mind so suddenly?"

"Oh," he replied, "I've decided I'd rather stand in the pulpit and do the shoutin' than sit in the congregation an' listen."

NOT VERY BUSY

"What do you work at, my poor man?"

"At intervals, madam."

No matter where your pain is located—in the back, shoulders, arms, legs or loins—you can get relief without taking anything to deaden the nerves.

Most people do not know that sciatica, rheumatism, neuralgia, bad teeth, colds and other ailments often end up in neuritis or nerve inflammation.

The quickest way to reach the diseased nerves is by absorption. That's where Tysmol gets in its work. Tysmol is applied over the spot where you feel the pain, and is taken up through the pores of the skin. It soothes and heals the inflamed nerves, helping to restore them to healthy condition.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DAFK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.—Advertisement.

FULFILLING PROMISES BY PERFORMANCE.

Promises may get friends, but it is performance that must keep them. —Feltham

The test of business vitality is in performance, not in promises. If this were not so, anyone could attain success without effort, simply by setting up an imposing sign or publishing impressive promises of fair dealing.

But few succeed, while many fail. The law is "give and take," and those who chiefly take, without giving "value received," never attain the heights.

Because its promises have been conscientiously and consistently carried out in performance, the L. G. Scovern Co. has succeeded.

TESTIMONIAL FOR LOCAL MAN TODAY

Many Friends Gather to Pay Their Respects to Harry Girard

This afternoon the numerous friends and fellow professionals of Harry Girard will congregate at the Morosco theatre, in Los Angeles to celebrate his forty years on the state as an actor, singer, director and composer.

Girard's life is said to be a history, replete with accomplishments, starting in 1882 at the Bijou Opera House, New York city, as a leading juvenile for a season, followed by two years at the same theatre with Henry E. Dixey in the famous "Adonis Production." Then with Lillian Russell, at the New York Casino in "The Daughter of the Regiment." Six years at Daly's theatre in the original productions of "Circus Girl," "Runaway Girl," "Geisha," "San Toy" and "The Country Girl."

Then three years as leading man for Lulu Glaser in "Dolly Varden," followed by the production of "The Alaskan."

A light romantic opera, which was written and composed by Girard himself, and in which he starred for two years, throughout the United States and Canada. A year in Toronto, Canada, in stock opera as owner and director of "The Imperial Opera company," followed by a season at the famous Burbank and eight consecutive years as a headliner in vaudeville, makes a record to make one justly proud.

Has Retired

Harry Girard has permanently retired from the stage to devote himself to his teaching and composition.

Supplementing a complete performance of "Abie's Irish Rose," six vaudeville acts by prominent performers and other features will make up the program, it is announced.

Louise Dresser and Jack Gardner have arranged the vaudeville program, which is announced to include Fanchon and Marco, Grace Fisher, Rae Samuels, Walter Heirs, Mrs. Harry Girard and others.

Prize dahlias, contributed by the Verdugo Woodlands Nursery, Hugh F. Bryan, proprietor, will be sold during the performance by the following from Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena and Glendale: Miss Isobel Foyer, Miss Viola Yorba, Miss Gladys Head, Mrs. Lucile Myerberg, Mrs. Amy Farnsworth, Miss Myra Lee, Miss Mia Marvin, Mrs. Alma Murphy Halff, Mrs. Madge Schalk Nottage and Miss Helen McPeak.

Mrs. Estelle Fuller will act as a reception and sales committee for the flowers, and also for Mr. Girard's latest composition, a Japanese melody, which has just been published.

The performance will start at 1:45 and last until 6 p. m., it is announced.

NEED CHRIST IN RELIGION, WORD

Rev. W. E. Edmonds Tells of Need for Christ In All Teachings of Faith

"There are religions that are not pure and there is such a thing as being stained with the world," remarked Rev. W. E. Edmonds yesterday morning at the Presbyterian church.

"If you are going to commit yourself to a bogus, futile religion, it will never carry you over. Don't dare experiment in religions. Christianity is not one among other religions. Anyone that does not have Christ in it is nothing.

"The word religion means 'to bind back' to God. Ours is the religion of the Cross and the Tomb. A man may think he is right while going utterly wrong and headed toward hell.

"Man was created in the likeness of God, but through sin we exiled ourselves. Genuine religion must bind the soul back.

"Religion is not a creed or a liturgy. A creed is necessary—it is a statement of what one professes to believe. What you believe forms your creed. 'I believe in the Golden Rule.' Then that is your creed or 'my creed is the sermon on the mount.' God does not care about your creed that way. Those are no good as long as you do not believe on the Lord Jesus Christ as Savior. What does your religion call for? Unless it includes a saving faith in Jesus Christ, it is but sounding brass or tinkling cymbal.

"James sets forth two great hemispheres of religion: One is doing good and the other is being good. He puts the doing first for he says beneficence is the key to all character and your religion shows bogus if you are not doing for someone else. You are a traitor to your Lord if you are not willing to do good. The doing and the being go simultaneously.

"Pure religion reduced to a single word is Christ. All we are or hope to be centers in Him."

State Supreme Court Reopens Fare Fight

Glendale may have lower fares over the Pacific Electric — sometime.

The State Supreme court yesterday afternoon officially decided to reopen the fight being waged by many suburban cities against the new passenger rates.

A revision has been asked for on the grounds that the passenger rates are discriminatory and that the through rate from Los Angeles is greater than the aggregate intermediate rates.

According to City Attorney Hartley Shaw, if this action is found meritorious the court may reconstruct the rates in either of two ways—it may order the intermediate rates raised or it may lower the through rates.

Peggy Beale Freed On Slaying Charge

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 24.—"Peggy" Beale is free. Today the dimunitive, bob-haired slayer of F. Warren Anderson, her "perfect lover," and alleged dispoiler of fifty women's hearts, was busy with her plans for the future following her acquittal here last night in criminal court of a second degree murder charge, after an hour and thirty-five minutes' deliberation by the jury.

"Oh, I am so happy, I scarcely know what to say," she said this morning.

"I knew from the first that I would be freed. What are my plans? At present they are unformed. First of all, I am going to rest and regain my health. But I am not going to run away. I am going to stay in Kansas City, where I have gained some of the truest friends of my life. And then when my health is fully restored, I am going to work and earn my living."

ager. A small reading room, 15 by 44 feet in size, and a double kitchen, will occupy the east side of the house. A small screen porch on the east side of the house, where deliveries may be made, will open into the kitchen. This will be equipped with all necessary apparatus for the preparation of banquets which may be served in the council room adjoining to the rear.

The architecture of the addition will coincide closely with that of the original building. It will be built of similar wood and painted to correspond with the house.

Plenty of Light

A cathedral roof will be a feature of the council room. The heighth of the roof will range from 12 feet at the eves on the north and south sides of the room to 24 feet at the peak which will run from east to west. The room will be 50 by 75 feet in size. It will be paneled in light woods while the rafter beams will be stained a darker color. The floor will be of hardwood. The lodge room will contain numerous windows at some distance above the ground so as to assure plenty of light and ventilation.

The physical training department will be located under the lodge room in the basement. A gymnasium will be surrounded by showers and dressing rooms. Nearby will be bowling alleys and pool and billiard tables.

The heating plant will be located in the large basement under the residence.

Tennis and handball courts will be placed to the west of the clubhouse.

Despite the handicap of a broken hip, Harry Girard of 230 South Louise street is taking a keen interest in the plans for the new clubhouse. He was honored recently by being elected unanimously as Grand Knight of Glendale Council No. 1920 of the Knights of Columbus.

Plans Prepared

Plans for the clubhouse have been prepared by the General Construction Company of 249 North Brand boulevard. A. M. Yale of 205 West Doran street is the president of this company and Alfred Schaff of 344 North Geneva street is its general manager.

The building committee recently approved these plans and authorized the preparation of detailed specifications in order that bids might be secured with the least possible delay. The contract will specify that the work must be completed in about sixty days.

Besides Mr. Girard, other members of the building committee are: Michael Gannon, Jr., Fred H. Huesman, E. Leo McMahon, Peter L. Ferry, L. F. Wright, H. M. Doll, H. V. Henry and J. A. Chappius.

The Glendale-Columbus Building Association is to be formed at the next general meeting of the Knights of Columbus.

This will be a close corporation confined to members of the organization. Promoters of the building project have pledged their financial support. The $15,000 worth of bonds, which will be necessary to start the undertaking, have been subscribed already.

SCENE OF ACTIVITY AT NEW LAUNDRY

Institution Eight Weeks Old Is Developing; Sanitary Methods Are Used

The observance this week of National Laundry Visitors' Week by the Premier Laundry at Pacific and Arden avenues, is of particular significance to F. A. Marek, president, and Harry Bechtold, the manager, and to their guests, because it marks eight weeks of successful activity of the business.

During the eight weeks of its existence the Premier plant has developed into a smoothly running organization and the visitor in studying the various departments gains a comprehensive idea of the laundry process.

In the laundry building one finds exceptionally fine lighting and ventilation for the sanitary handling of clothes.

Water Is Softened

Upon being received at the laundry the clothes are marked and segregated, each kind being kept separate for washing. The washing takes place in nine large washing machines, electrically run. Softened water is used for washing and each machine is equipped with three water pipes, hot soft water, cold soft water and unsoftened water.

The softening of the water is of particular interest and is done by a softening plant costing $5000. It is done by a mineral process carried on in a large tank, which is recharged every day. Fifty thousand gallons of water are refined daily.

Of importance to the operations in the laundry room is the large engine and boiler room, where a large boiler of 100 horsepower is operated by natural gas, piped from Bakersfield.

Interesting Features

After the clothes are taken from the nine large washing machines they are put in large extractors for wringing and then some of them are ironed dry, while others are put in the different dryers.

Some of the interesting sights at the Premier plant are a large flat work ironer with ironing space of 120 inches; a large drier into which the clothes are run on an endless chain, taking fifteen minutes from the time they go in to the time they come out; a sterilizing drier, into which all soft pieces are put for a period of twenty minutes at a heat of 320 degrees, the ironing machines and retouching department.

During his journey about the plant the visitor is attracted by the stocking ironer, which is a piece of machinery equipped with several leg and foot shapes of metal of various sizes with movable heels and steam heated. Sox or stockings are slipped onto these shapes and the material dried and shaped.

Various Departments

The collar department is also interesting for there one sees in operation the various machines required to starch, iron, dampen the seam, shape and finish a collar.

Likewise in the shirt department one finds a series of machines for ironing a shirt. There are six of them which iron the cuff, the neck, the yoke, the bosom, the sleeves and the body. Besides the finished work the Premier plant has a rough dry department, where the clothes are washed and starched and returned to patrons for ironing.

Manager Bechtold and his assistants are to hold open house the rest of the week and promise every visitor an educational treat and an appreciation of the fact that Glendale clothes can be satisfactorily laundered in Glendale.

Y. M. C. A. WORKERS WILL RAISE $4,800

To Start Canvass on Next Sunday to Raise Budget for Coming Year

The financial canvass for raising the district Y. M. C. A. budget for the coming year is to be started next Sunday at 1 o'clock, it was announced this morning by Rex C. Kelley, the secretary. An effort is to be made on October 29, 30 and 31 to raise $4800, to carry on the work.

The workers, of which there is expected to be 100, will gather for dinner Sunday noon at the Christian church. David Black is the campaign chairman, and will be assisted by ten teams, divided into two groups.

One group is to be known as the "Go-Getters," of which C. W. Ingledue is the captain. The other group, of which W. A. Horn is captain, is to be known as "The Live Y'ers."

After lunch next Sunday, the teams will make the canvass. On both Monday and Tuesday the men will meet for lunch, at which time they will hear reports of the progress being made.

Crime Is Committed by Paid Assassins?

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 24.—While Deputy Attorney-General Wilbur A. Mott, former prosecutor of Essex county, today was actively taking charge of the murder of Rev. Dr. Hall, rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and the singer, Mrs. James Mills, the opinion was advanced by counsel for Charlotte Mills, 16-year-old daughter of the slain woman, that the crime was committed by paid assassins and that it was inspired by jealousy.

Prosecuting Attorney Joseph Stricker of Middlesex county and state police who have been investigating the mystery were expected to inform the deputy attorney-general that some of the evidence already has been gathered to warrant an immediate arrest.
